The fund

Fund performance objective and benchmark

The Fund's investment objective is to achieve a growing income with some capital growth over the medium term (3-5 years) by investing at least 80% in the shares of medium-sized and larger UK companies listed on the London Stock Exchange. The Fund's performance target is to outperform, after the deduction of charges, the FTSE All-Share Total Return GBP Index (the "Index") over rolling 5-year periods. The Index is regarded as a good measure of the share-price performance of the approximately 600 largest companies on the London Stock Exchange. The Index is considered an appropriate benchmark for the Fund's performance, as the Fund's potential investments will predominantly be included in the Index. In addition to the benchmark for the Fund's performance as noted above (the "Index"), the IA UK All Companies sector is considered an appropriate benchmark for performance comparison.

Performance commentary

The fund outperformed the benchmark during the period under review.

Key contributors to performance were the holdings in Ascential, Drax, IG Group and Cranswick. Ascential was strong following a takeover bid for the company, from Informa, at a substantial premium to the prevailing market share price. The latter three companies did well on the back of strong results and trading statements.

Fund activity

The main sales in the quarter were to reduce the position in Ascential, into the spike in the shares following the bid approach, and to trim existing large positions in 3i Group and IG Group. A number of existing holdings were topped up – Diageo, Johnson Matthey, National Grid and Genus. More significantly, two new holdings were established, in Spirax Sarco and Rentokil. Both are companies that the fund has held in the past, but which were exited at higher levels. Both companies have seen their share prices moving down after weak trading statements and are now trading at levels that we see as attractive long term entry points.

Market commentary

Market Overview

The quarter saw the FTSE All-Share index rise, with the bigger companies of the FTSE-100 outpaced by the medium sized companies of the FTSE-250. This was in part due to the quarter starting with a positive reaction to the decisive UK general election result, spurring demand for domestic UK companies. Additionally, some large constituents of the FTSE-100 weighed on the index. Astra Zeneca was down on some disappointing drug development updates and BP and Shell were both under pressure from oil price weakness; this was caused by Saudi Arabia saying that they may not manage their production levels to target $100 per barrel. The Energy sector was the worst performing sector in the quarter, while more defensive sectors like Consumer Staples and Utilities did better.

The equity market took on a more defensive feel in the middle of the quarter, with sectors like Healthcare and Consumer Staples faring best; while sectors like Materials, Energy and Technology struggled. With inflation seemingly now under control and interest rates on a downward trajectory, concerns have turned to how much economies might slow. The new UK government has also been at some pains to stress how stretched public finances are, leading to concerns that the budget later this year may contain some hard measures to address this.

Markets rallied towards the end of the quarter, after news from China that the authorities were considering injecting significant stimulus into their economy.

Corporate activity continues, with Informa revealing a £1bn bid for events peer Ascential and Hargreaves Lansdown and Rightmove both finding themselves as bid targets.

Outlook

Given the often-conflicting macroeconomic data of the moment, we feel justified in our consistent approach of trying to filter out the noise and focus on investing over the long term.

Risks and Warnings

Investment risk

The value of investments and any income from them may go down as well as up and is not guaranteed. Investors may not get back the amount invested.

EPM techniques risk

The Fund may engage in EPM techniques including holdings of derivative instruments. Whilst intended to reduce risk, the use of these instruments may expose the Fund to increased price volatility.

Counterparty risk

The insolvency of any institutions providing services such as safekeeping of assets or acting as counterparty to derivatives or other instruments, may expose the Fund to financial loss.

Charges from capital risk

Charges are taken from the capital of the Fund. Whilst this increases the yield, it also has the effect of reducing the potential for capital growth.
